National League All-stars Take Baseball Classic

Defeat American League Players 4 to 1 Behind Brilliant Pitching

Second Triumph For Nationals

CROSLY FIELD, Cincinnati — Brilliant pitching and timely hitting gave the National League all-stars a 4 to 1 victory over their American League rivals in the sixth annual charity battle between the two major baseball circuits before 28,000 spectators here today.

The victory left the series at four to two in favor of the American League. Some experts predicted a final for the all-star classic if the Americans scored another victory today but it was the National League's game all the way.

The National club, managed by Bill Terry of the New York Giants, won on the strength of sensational pitching by three men, Johnny Vander Meer, outstanding rookie of the Cincinnati Reds; big Bill Lee of the Chicago Cubs, and Mace Brown, great relief hurler of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Vander Meer, the first man in the history of baseball to pitch two successive no-hit no-run games, opened on the mound for the Nationals and for three innings tied up the big guns of the Americans in brilliant fashion. He allowed one hit, a single by Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox in the third. Vander Meer was followed by Lee, big right-hander, who proved just as effective. In the seventh Brown took up the burden, and although in serious trouble in a dramatic seventh inning and found for one run in the ninth, Brown finished the game.

REAL DRAMA

That seventh inning of the Americans had the huge crowd in a panic. It was the only time the boys managed by Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees, really looked dangerous. Fox Sox started off by beating out a hit to Durocher at short. DiMaggio forced Fox at second. DiMaggio lifted to Hack at third. Cronin walked. Gehrig smashed a hot one to Durocher and it went for a hit, loading the bases. Rudy York, giant catcher of the Detroit Tigers, was sent in as a pinch hitter. After working the count up to three and two York struck out as the fans nearly pulled the stands down.

Eight Arabs Are Killed in Fight

JERUSALEM (AP) — Eight Arabs were killed and a British soldier was wounded in a fight last night on the Plain of Esdraelon, scene in Biblical times of the liberator Gideon's defeat of the Midianites.

Troops and Jewish constables engaged the Arabs near the off-punctured Iraq pipeline.

FAIRBRIDGE GETS ESTATE

Older Boys of Vancouver Island School to Transfer to Fintry, B.C.

LONDON (CP) — Fairbridge Farm Schools tonight announced Capt. J. C. Dunwater had presented his Fintry estate in the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia to the schools.

The older boys at the Prince of Wales Fairbridge Farm School at Cowichan Station, Vancouver Island, B.C., will go to Fintry for farming and training almost immediately.

The Fintry estate lies on the west side of Okanagan Lake near Vernon and covers 2,500 acres. It was acquired by Capt. Dunwater when he came to Canada in 1919 and he has used it for the raising of Ayrshires.

The farm is self-contained, being made up of range land, orchards, preserves of mountain goat and deer, and traplines. It has its own water development. Capt. Dunwater is popularly known as the "Laird of Fintry." He was formerly a Scottish publisher.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A delegation of the Fraser Valley Reeves' Association, including representatives from nearly every municipality in the valley, will leave Vancouver at midnight tonight for Victoria, where they will interview Premier Pattullo and British Columbia cabinet members Thursday seeking increased aid for municipalities from the government.

They will protest against recent re-classification of relief cases which has resulted in increased municipal relief costs.

London Studies Plans For R.A.F. in Dominion Schools Offered By Ottawa

LONDON (CP) — Evening newspapers here today gave streamer headline to stories that Canada is ready to establish a flying school to train Royal Air Force officers, but none commented editorially.

The London Evening News appeared with a banner line on its front page: "Canada is to train R.A.F. pilots." Others printed big headlines on inside pages.

CABLE FROM OTTAWA

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's offer of co-operation in training fliers for the Royal Air Force was under consideration by British authorities today. This followed the cable dispatched last night by Sir Francis Floud, High Commissioner for the United Kingdom, conveying to his government the proposal announced by Prime Minister King.

Sir Francis, as-instructed, advised London that Canada was prepared to place at the disposal of the British Air Ministry facilities of the Royal Canadian Air Force for training of personnel for the British service.

THRONG OF 10,000 AS MIDGETS MARRY

BLACKPOOL, Eng. (CP) — Several women were trampled on today and several others fainted when 10,000 people blocked the street around the Sacred Heart Church, where two members of the midget colony known as "Tiny Town" were married.

Annie Keeps, the 42-inch bride, is the principal dancer of the midget troupe. The groom, Herman Rutter, is two inches taller. Henry Glover, mayor of Tiny Town, gave the bride in marriage.

BRITISH GOLF LEAD SHARED

Five Players Score 70s Today; Champion Henry Cotton Has 74

SANDWICH, Eng. (CP) — Jack Fallon, the little-known Huddersfield golfer who led the qualifying round, continued in faultless style today as the chase for the British open title got down to serious business and his par 70 kept him among the early leaders.

Despite gusty showers that swept the Royal St. George's course, three other seekers after the crown worn by Henry Cotton were bracketed with Fallon.

Jim Adams of Royal Liverpool, E. R. Whitcombe of Bournemouth, Marcel Dallemagne of France and W. J. Cox of Wimbledon returned 70s.

Wally Smithers, young Liverpool golfer who really found his game while acting as assistant professional at the Royal Ottawa Club in Canada, stayed close to the front runners with a steady 73.

Alf Perry of Leatherhead, pudgy former titleholder, had a 71, and the veteran Bert Gadd joined him at that figure. P. J. Mahon of the Royal Dublin Club was bracketed with Smithers at 75, while another stroke back came Arthur Lacey, the venerable James Braid, and J. J. F. Penning, English amateur champion.

Sid Brews of South Africa carded 76, and Cyril Tolley 77. After yesterday's second 18-hole qualifying round the 25-year-old Fallon stayed in front with a two-day total of 142, all with scores over 157 were weeded out. Following tomorrow's 18 holes the low 40 scores and ties will advance into the final 36-hole stretch Friday.

BRUEN HAS 70

Gangling Jim Bruen, the sensational 18-year-old from Ireland, joined Fallon and the others at 70. Dai Rees of Wales carded 73 and Alf Padgham 74.

Brig-General A. C. Critchley, London sports promoter who was born at Calgary, turned in a 78. The Whitcombe brothers, R. A. Whitcombe of Parkstone and C. A. Whitcombe of Crewshill, had 71s. H. W. Hattersley, Australian player, carded 74, while Hector Thoms, Scottish amateur, needed 77.

Defending champion Cotton stayed within easy striking distance of the pacemakers with 74. Young Bobby Locke of South Africa shot 73.

Speculation in London as to Course If Countess Haugwitz Divorced

LONDON (AP) — Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow's marital dispute today to speculation as to whether the Woolworth heiress is planning another marriage.

The case against Count Curt Haugwitz-Reventlow for alleged threats against his wife stood adjourned in the Bow Street court until a week from today.

But hints of a new romance at his hearing yesterday—when her counsel alleged he had demanded £1,000,000 ($5,000,000) from her for a divorce and threatened her with "three years of hell with headlines"—caused many "I told you so's" among gossip.

They had linked her name with that of another titled personage—mentioned guardedly at the Party Examines Michel Coal Pit Where Three Killed Yesterday

MICHEL, B.C. (CP) — A seven-man party toiled through the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company No. 1 mine on the edge of this east Kootenay coal center today, seeking cause of a blast which ripped through a tunnel yesterday and snuffed out the lives of three men.

Headed by British Columbia Mines Inspector J. R. Hughes, three company officials and three miners moved cautiously through B beam, where Edward Morrison, William Cartwright and John Phillips met death in an explosion some thought came from gas ignited by a lightning bolt.

The 11 other men in the mine at the time made their way safely to the surface. Only the 14 were underground for, in inspection and repair work preparatory to re-opening of the mine today when 200 men were slated to return after a week's layoff.

LIVES SAVED

Five men were in the tunnel where the explosion came, but the force of the blast itself saved the lives of two.

RAINS REDUCE FIRE HAZARD

Recent rains have improved the forest fire hazard over British Columbia somewhat, but the fire toll is still mounting, the B.C. forest branch said in its weekly summary today.

On Vancouver Island and in the Nelson and Kamloops districts rains over the week-end helped matters, but in the northern interior conditions are still hazardous, the branch reported.

Meanwhile the total of fires to date this season reached 779, against 443 last year and 444 the previous year. This included 170 in the Vancouver forest district, which includes the big logging areas of Vancouver Island, against 108 last year.

War Secretary Gives Evidence

Hore-Belisha Heard at British Official Secrets Act Inquiry

LONDON (AP) — Armed with a bundle of documents, War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha appeared before a select committee of 14 members of Parliament today and told his side of the row arising from charges of Duncan Sandys, M.P., that he had been threatened with invocation of the Official Secrets Act.

Mr. Hore-Belisha entered the committee room in the House of Commons alone. The committee was specially formed a few days ago to consider application of the act, directed against espionage, to members of Parliament.

The inquiry was started after Duncan Sandys, a Conservative, charged he had been threatened with prosecution under the act unless he disclosed the source of secret anti-aircraft data in his possession.

Mr. Sandys, a lieutenant in the territorial army, testified for more than an hour yesterday when the committee met in camera.

New charges of inefficiency in air defence were made in a Labor Party statement which Rt. Hon. Clement Attlee, opposition leader, handed to Prime Minister Chamberlain last night. The memorandum was the result of a lengthy independent inquiry by a labor party committee.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Attorney-General G. S. Wismer is considering a plan by which the British Columbia government would take over Vancouver's juvenile detention home and operate it as a delinquency centre for the lower mainland district, according to Alderman Fred Cronie.

STOLEN GOLD IN ONTARIO FOUND

Man in Custody; Dome Mine Concentrates Valued at $40,000

TORONTO (CP) — Gold concentrates taken from the Dome Gold Mine near Timmins last month have been recovered and one man has been arrested, Hon. Gordon Conant, Ontario Attorney-General, announced today. The stolen concentrates were valued at $40,000.

Provincial police surprised two men. One, Otto Fybro, was arrested, but the other escaped and is still being hunted.

The Attorney-General said Fybro was believed to be only one of a gang involved in the bold theft from the closely-guarded mine, nearly 150 miles northwest of where the gold was recovered.

Provincial Constable Brancey of the Temagami Detachment, searching that area came on a cabin on the shore of Lake-Lovell. One man fled, but the constable held Fybro and then a brief search revealed eight bags of gold concentrate which was later returned to the mine and identified by Dome officials as the stolen gold.

Chinese Attempt to Prevent Japanese Advance Beyond Hukow

By LLOYD LEHBRAS Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI (AP) — Chinese forces, at the end of the first year of war with Japan, gained momentary advantage on three fronts Wednesday.

Along the Yangtze River about Hukow they succeeded in laying new mines to harry Japanese in a newly-planned offensive toward Hankow, the provisional capital of China.

Along the coast, northeast of Nanking in Kiangsu Province, Chinese said they had captured the towns of Fowning, 90 miles south of Saichow, and Yencheng, 130 miles south.

Japanese were reported to have retreated to Tungta, reversing their offensive to establish a stronger grip on the province. The Chinese government, determined to resist to the end the

New British-U.S. Trade Pact Soon

Treaty May Be Signed Before July 31, Says London Paper

LONDON (CP) — The long-delayed trade agreement between the United States and Great Britain may be concluded before the end of this month, the parliamentary correspondent of the Financial Times said today.

"Joseph Kennedy, the United States Ambassador, has been extremely helpful in expediting the negotiations," said the Financial Times. "The ambassador had a long interview last night with Prime Minister Chamberlain."

"I understand the agreement will not be so convenient as was at first envisaged. Nonetheless, it will mark an important turning point in the development of Anglo-American trade, and will in time have an important influence on the development of world trade."

Asks Ottawa To Act On Jobless

City Refuses Unemployed Tag Day and Wires Prime Minister For Action

The City Council last night again affirmed its decision to refuse a tag day to single unemployed, invading Victoria from Vancouver and telegraphed a request to Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and Hon. Norman McL. Rogers, Minister of Labor, asking "that immediate and effective steps be taken by the proper government authorities to remedy the intolerable situation in prospect here."

A copy of the telegram, together with the brief statement the tag day had been refused by unanimous vote of the full council, was given to the press by Mayor Andrew McGavin after the council had been in camera for over an hour.

The closed session followed a meeting during which a delegation of approximately 30, with eight spokesmen, urged allowance of the tag day.

The message to Prime Minister King and Mr. Rogers follows: "Delegation from Single Unemployed Protective Association applied to City Council tonight for permission to hold tag day for benefit of single unemployed relief workers (Stop). One spokesman of delegation stated (quote) We do not want to break the law but if permission is not given for Tag Day we have no other alternative (close quotation). Application for Tag Day declined by Council by unanimous vote (Stop). Very disagreeable situation developing here (Stop). Seven hundred men here now and three hundred more on way (Stop). Most undesirable that this number be in this city of only thirty-nine thousand people (Stop). Council very much regrets unpleasantness to citizens due to Victoria being made scene of differences between Dominion and Provincial Authorities and these men in this vitally important matter in which City is not directly concerned and has no jurisdiction (Stop). City Council urgently requests that immediate and effective steps be taken by the proper Government Authorities to remedy the intolerable situation in prospect here."

It was signed by the mayor.

CAMPBELL STATEMENT

The telegram referred in its quotation to the words of R. W. Campbell, publicity agent for the visiting unemployed.

"In asking for a tag day I think it is better that we put our position before you as single unemployed men," Campbell said. "Our position is just this: the thing is that the single unemployed men still have to eat, and the men are still going to eat regardless of the circumstances. We have tried to do everything possible in a constitutional manner and it is up to the City Council here whether or not we do break the law. If the council grants permission to hold a tag day it will help us in our immediate requirements. We don't want to break the law, but if permission is not given we have no other alternative."

Announcing themselves by surname only the various spokesmen addressed the council.

J. Lucas pointed to the urgent and immediate need of the unemployed men. E. W. Abraham, of the British Israel Federation of Victoria, called for consideration for the men. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick noted the city granted tag days for many worthy causes, including the S.P.C.A. It would show a Christian spirit to give one for men as well as for dogs, he said. Nigel Morgan stated the C.C.F. District Council was 100 per cent behind the men. Rev. B. H. Wallace, chairman of Victoria Presbytery of the United Church added his plea, suggesting the citizens enter a round-table discussion with the government on the question. Alfred Carmichael sought consideration for a tag day. Mrs. Bennett, speaking on behalf of a woman's gathering, stated her group did not want the council to compromise itself in any way. Granting a tag day would not do that, Mr. Fife of the Relief Project Workers' Union called attention to the housing question, made a request for the use of the Variety Theatre and for any other old buildings in which incoming jobless could be housed. Men, he said, should not have to go to jail just because they had to eat.

Mrs. Mathison remarked upon the laudable causes supported by tag days here.

In reply, Mr. Keyworth thanked the congregations for the support they had given him during his ministry.

Refreshments were served by the ladies, and the evening was terminated by the pronouncing of the benediction by Mr. Keyworth.

Honor Paid To Late Net Star

PARIS—Posthumous award of the Order of the Legion of Honor upon Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, famous tennis star, who died of pernicious anemia here Monday, was announced last night by Education Minister Jean Zay. The honor was conferred for conspicuous service in the field of sports.

UNUSUAL JOBS—Checking Bonds

The average person thinks of a man checking bonds as a fellow seated at a table with a pile of debentures, complete with interest coupons, before him.

But that's not the type of bond checking done by Arthur Beeching for the British Columbia Electric Railway Company. Recently Mr. Beeching completed a check of the bonds used on street car rails. These bonds are made up of stranded copper wires and are connected from the end of one length of rail to the end of the next. This is necessary in order to avoid a high resistance in the path of the electric current as it completes its circuit.

When the street cars pass you sometimes may see sparks and flashes where the trolley wheel rolls along the wire, and sometimes, especially in wet weather, you also may see blue and yellow flashes under the car wheels, which proves the electrical energy is passing from the wheels to the rails. Therefore, the car completes the circuit by connecting the trolley wire, through the motorman's controller and the street car motors, with the tracks, which is absolutely necessary to make the current flow. The "juice" is sent out from the generator in the power house over the trolley wires, and returns over the rails and through the earth, which is also a conductor of electricity, to a copper plate buried in the ground at the power house and connected to the generator.

Should there be anything, such as gaps between each length of rail, to impede the free flow of the "juice," there may be undue sparking at the trolley wheel and the street car motors will not be able to work at their best efficiency. Wear and tear, together with rough passage of street cars, has a tendency to loosen these bonds and sometimes break them. That is why Mr. Beeching has to make a regular check-up on the bonding of car tracks.

Mr. Beeching is shown above testing for defective bonds on a rail on Fort Street. The gadget on the rail and the clocklike appendage in his hands are the tools of his trade, which show when bonds are defective or otherwise.

Mayor Miller Hits At Riot Leaders

Vancouver's Chief Magistrate Says R.P.W.U. Control Is Communistic

VANCOUVER—Mayor George Miller of Vancouver in a public address last night declared unemployed disturbances in Vancouver during the past two months were "engineered in cold blood" and organized months before they took place.

"This wasn't the work of hot-heads," he said, speaking especially of the month-long occupation of public buildings in Vancouver which culminated in riots on June 19 when sit-downers were evicted from the post office and art gallery.

"The men responsible for it," said the Mayor, "admitted to me in my own office that their plans were laid last winter, while they and their misled followers were under the care and employment of the government."

WILL TOLERATE NO MORE

"I suggest to you that Vancouver has had more than enough of their tactics. Our patience is exhausted. These men have no quarrel with us. We had none with them until they made us the butt of a campaign directed primarily at senior governments. The strategy of disrupting the peace and defying the police may please the Communists and the revolutionaries. It has no place in Vancouver, and I say that it will not be tolerated again," Mayor Miller said.

The Mayor, as head of the police commission, spoke in defence of the police who had been charged by the sit-downers and their supporters with brutality in the post office eviction.

"The purpose is obvious," said the Mayor. "Those responsible for the outbreaks 'are determined to undermine general respect for law and to bring our police force into disrepute.'"

"The Relief Project Workers' Union, which speaks on behalf of the jobless, was the Mayor said, 'fathered and fostered by the Communist party and was even organized originally by the Communists' travelling organizers. The direction of the R.P.W.U. remains to this day in the control of known Communists."

The Mayor reviewed briefly the 1935 trek to Ottawa and the way it was granted them by the city. The tenancy arrangement would, unless changed, expire on Friday.

Regina riots, which, he declared, "was engineered to a finish in true Communist style." Dealing directly with the recent disturbances in Vancouver, the Mayor said the fact that police refrained from taking the initiative as soon as buildings were occupied was a disappointment to the leaders of the occupation.

"The Communist party," he said, "had to go to great lengths to keep the buildings occupied. Younger men got fed up waiting for action and left the movement. As they tired of adventure, the party had to fill their places with older men and habitual drifters, who were lured by free meals, tobacco and clothing."

OFFICERS MANHANDLED

Concerning the eviction of men from the post office, Mayor Miller said there was a general move to destroy public and private property. "The control of a mob is rough business at the best. Bear in mind, however, that only two of their number went to hospital. Meanwhile, several policemen were hurt. The injuries of two were serious. One of the officers may show permanent results of the manhandling he got."

The Mayor said that last winter some 5,000 men were given shelter in provincial camps. These men disbanded this spring. About 4,000 of the occupants got out and rustled jobs for themselves. "The other 1,000 followed their leaders to Vancouver. They were out to cause as much trouble as they could."

BOARD FREELY TO BUY WHEAT

OTTAWA (CP)—Meeting the requests of many prairie farmers, the government has decided to allow the Canadian Wheat Board to buy all wheat offered it during the coming crop year with out the limitations imposed on such purchases during the present crop year ending July 31.

Prime Minister King announced the government's decision to newspapermen following a cabinet session last night.

Although he did not mention participating certificates, it was indicated such certificates would be given farmers to enable them to share in any profits made by the board in selling above the minimum price which is to be fixed later by the board.

For the present crop year, the minimum price was 87½¢ a bushel. The price did not slip below 90¢ and the board has not bought any wheat this crop year. Through participating certificates farmers are able to share in any advance above the minimum price paid by the board, while if they sell on the open market they get the price listed at the time of sale. The minimum price is considerably lower than market price.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

DUNCAN—A verdict of accidental death, with no blame attached to the train crew, was the verdict of the jury at the inquest held in Duncan on the body of Daniel Gabourie, who was killed on the railway track between Duncan and Koksilah, early on Monday morning. The jury added a rider to the effect that the Indian agent should be asked to try and prevent Indians walking along the track, especially at night.

Charles Arsene Henry, the French envoy, was said to have pointed out the islands were under the sovereignty of the Annam empire from 1816 until 1867, when China recognized their transfer to French protection. Annam at about the same time became a part of French Indo-China. M. Henry was understood to have given Japan assurance Japanese fishermen using the coral islands would not meet interference now that France had claimed sovereignty.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 6, 1938

The Moral of It

TO A YOUNG MAN OF VICTORIA HAS gone the appointment of Councillor in British Columbia for the National Unity Party of Canada. This enlightening intelligence came out of the recent Fascist conference held at Kingston—where, apparently, a section of Canadian youth basked in the reflected "glory" of the swastika.

Apart from the fact that this particular section—and others—have gone "shirist" through poor advice or false instinct, the gradual infiltration of anti-democratic thought will make progress only if the citizens of tomorrow are more or less ignored by those to whom they should be able to look for encouragement in their study of public questions of the day.

There is no room in Canada—or there should not be—for Fascism or any of the other imported political doctrines that thrive on apathy or paralysis of the imagination. But, while this is true fundamentally as well as theoretically, one or another of them will find room and take root unless democratic tradition is fully capitalized and strengthened by ready adaptation to current progressive thought. In other words, those men and women in Canada who boast of their Liberalism, who strut the platform and figuratively rain fire and brimstone on any form of reaction, should realize that the future of their creed depends wholly upon the sympathetic guidance they are willing to give to the younger members of society who require it and have the right to expect it.

True, the "shirist" challenge in British Columbia—or, for that matter, anywhere else in Canada—is at present a weak affair. But it is a new fad in this part of the Dominion. We are living in unusual times. We are not to know how early the perplexed mind of the present generation of youth can be attuned to the score set by the authors of the "isms" which, in other countries, first successfully assailed the citadel of youthful thought and then proceeded, with even more success, to mesmerize folk considered immune from any newfangled political virus.

Liberals, the men and women who should be practicing the real philosophy of Liberalism in its fullest sense, should recognize that youth has a contribution to make to the public weal in British Columbia. Immature though its views may be in many instances, no matter how impatient it may become because its ideology must perforce undergo reasonable qualification and often perhaps complete abandonment, this province's young men and young women still have in them something constructive which ought to be brought out and utilized for the good of the cause—a cause which is morally right and materially sound.

Next month in Vernon provincial Liberals will meet in convention. If the delegates to be chosen to go there do not include adequate representation of youth, that meeting of the "converted" will not achieve the maximum in results. If Liberalism means anything, it means breadth under all headings. So the best way to outmode the prevailing, if only temporary, fashion of "shirism" among some British Columbian youths is to acknowledge in a practical way the fact that there is room under the banner of Liberalism for all who aspire to fill the places of those who have done yeoman work for Democracy in Canada. Indifference to the ambitions and rights of youth is another form of invitation to it to become associated with such movements as that of the "National Unity Party of Canada"—whatever that title may connote.

Canada and South America

CANADA'S EXPORTS TO SOUTH AMERICAN countries have more than trebled during the past five years, but her imports from these countries have also shown great expansion and still greatly exceed the value of Canadian products sold on that continent. Exports during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1938, had a total value of $19,000,000 while imports for the same period were worth $23,640,000. This situation presents an excellent opportunity for the continued expansion of sales of the diverse products of Canada to the countries of South America.

Exchange restrictions in force in many of the countries of South America, says the economist of the Royal Bank of Canada, present some difficulty but invariably preference is given to those countries where the balance of trade is favorable to the country imposing the restrictions. Canada is in such a relation with a number of South American countries and can therefore expect continued preference in the matter of exchange permits. The recent expansion in trade, moreover, is indicative of the mutual potentialities of these markets.

In spite of the importance of wheat and animal products in the economies of both Canada and Argentina, analysis reveals that there are many products which are not produced in common in the two geographic areas, and there are opportunities for an expansion in trade which will be of mutual benefit. As one part of a world-wide effort to restore a more normal volume of international trade, the increase in the exchange of commodities between Canada, on the one hand, and the countries of South America, on the other, should be given every encouragement.

Worse Than Futile

THE FEDERAL ELECTION AND FRANCHISE Act passed just before prorogation of Parliament makes illegal the publishing or broadcasting of election results from any part of Canada, where the polls have closed, to parts where the polls are still open. Because of time difference, voting in the Maritime Provinces ends four hours before it does in British Columbia. Ontario closing is three hours ahead of closing time in B.C.; Winnipeg two hours, Alberta one hour.

The legislative theory is that voters going to the polls are influenced by the way voting has gone in other parts of the country. We can find little to justify this fear. There is certainly nothing in the results to indicate that prairie voters in their final hour or two of polling are moved one way or the other by reports of the way things have gone in the east. The same is true about British Columbians. We in Victoria have good reason to know this because Nova Scotia and New Brunswick federal results are usually published in the regular edition of this newspaper, circulated three hours or so before the polls close here. Victorians have been interested in these reports as news, but they have gone ahead and completed their voting in the way they intended to do. Emphasizing this is the fact that they have almost consistently voted contrary to the published indication of the voting in the Maritimes and Quebec.

We doubt whether the objective of the law can be achieved without shutting off all channels of outgoing information from the eastern areas until the polls in B.C. close. Unless such a ridiculous step were taken, United States news agencies and radio stations would have the reports distributed across the continent. They would come into western Canada by air and news and telegraph offices.

Even if it were practicable, and irrespective of the press-gag issue, there is the certainty that attempt to enforce the act will bring about in an accentuated way the very condition that its sponsors mistakenly seek to avert. Withholding the normal flow of news will have the effect that news interruption always has when public interest is running high. Communities in the western zones of silence will become the playthings of rumor. Anyone with experience of the speed with which rumor can spread and the conviction it carries, realizes the possibilities for harm in such a situation.

Altogether, the measure is so childish in its conception, that before it was passed it would have been difficult to believe mature minds could consider its proposals seriously.

For Want of an Auditorium

ONE THOUSAND PROFESSIONAL MEN, with members of their families and friends, are in Vancouver this week attending a triennial international dental convention. The preceding convention was held in San Francisco. There, when it was decided to come to British Columbia in 1938, Victoria was favored because of its recreational facilities and its distinctive atmosphere. But investigation revealed that although this city had adequate hotel accommodation, it had no meeting place large enough for such a gathering and for housing the number of technical displays and commercial exhibits to be featured on the program. Accordingly, the decision was made to go elsewhere and thus Victoria lost one of the largest and potentially most profitable conventions of the year.

Facts such as these should reawaken the public to the immediate need of an auditorium here and stimulate those who have been planning the financing and construction of one.

The chewing-gum market reports a phenomenal boom. Of course, in these nervous times, people are chewing a lot faster.

Comes a story of a German woodworker who wears two artificial legs and an artificial arm of his own manufacture. A self-made man.

CANADA'S DEBT COST

From Toronto Star

The Star having shown that Canada's debt is costing the country less in interest than it did in the post-war period, and much less per capita now than then, an evening contemporary suggests that this is just a "temporary fluctuation" and that "sometimes a year will show a reduction in interest charges over the previous year, and the next year may show a trend upwards."

But the Star did not depend upon a single year in making its comparison. The figures covered the fiscal years 1921-25 and the fiscal years 1934-39. The Star has already given them in detail, and now presents them in the form of an annual average interest charge:

	Annual Average	Per Capita Average
1921-1925	$136,700,000	$15.15
1934-1939	134,900,000	12.20

Not only has the average interest charge on the national debt been lower in recent years than in the post-war period, as the above comparison demonstrates, but with one exception (the fiscal year 1937) every year since 1934 has seen a reduction in the interest bill. For the current year 1938 it is down to $127,000,000, or $11.24 per capita.

It is true that this does not warrant unnecessary additions to the debt, but it does dispose of the statements so often made that Canada is being strangled by its debt burden. The burden is actually lighter today than it was in any of the years 1921-25 inclusive.

SLUMS

MOST OF THE PEOPLE of Victoria, I dare say, have never seen a real slum. For the very worst you probably have to go to New York and take the Third Avenue Elevated on a hot July day, when the slums are disgorging their hot and tortured inmates upon the roofs and fire escapes, like bees smoked out of their hives. Montreal has some prime slums also and there are grisly sights not far from Granville Street. But I had never realized until the other day what truly magnificent slums we have here in Victoria.

Of course, you never see them. You are not in the habit of frequenting the sub-marginal district that fringes Chinatown from the north. Neither am I, but a few days ago some other newspaperman and I went for a tour of the gay hostilities which the City Council has loaned to the unemployed boys. They are bad enough and personally I would prefer to sleep on any clam beach, in any farmer's loft or on the side of the road. A few of the boys have managed to acquire old mattresses, but many sleep on piles of magazines and old clothes in the dark and noisome cubicles.

You might think this slum enough, but look out the back windows. You won't believe for a moment that you are in Victoria. You will be sure you are on a movie set in Hollywood; that such a sight could not be real in this part of the world. Here are the tenements of Chinatown, with broken-down galleries, rotting porches, a courtyard heaped up with an unimaginable clutter of old automobile tires, scrap iron and the accumulated junk of nearly 100 years, since the founding of Fort Victoria; evil weeds growing through the debris, and grass sprouting from the cracks of the tottering brick walls.

It is not like a New York slum, which has a certain permanence about it, a solidly built, grim stability, an organized and planned horror, like a prison. The Victoria slums, have no permanence about them, no solidity, no planned horror. They seem to have been thrown together, perhaps blown together like a pile of refuse in a tornado, and look as if another breath would blow them apart, scatter them to the four winds. They look exactly like a Hollywood set without body or substance, only a front, and exaggerated beyond belief for the purposes of a Chinatown melodrama.

Fortunately, you never see them. They are hidden away from the world and most people won't believe they are there. I suppose this is good for the Little Bit of England from the tourist standpoint, but I believe we could attract a lot more tourists if we organized slumming tours, personally conducted trips through Chinatown, such as they have in the much-less-interesting Chinatown of New York. We could give the tourists a real thrill, give them the creeps, make them go home and order an antiseptic bath in their hotels. Really, we are not half exploiting our natural attractions.

IN ENGLAND NOW

NOW IN ENGLAND they are cleaning out their slums and most of those I have seen in London were luxurious and wholesome compared with the outlook from the unemployed boys' hostelry on Johnson Street. England is doing its best and it puts such a cheerful face on things that the world at present is under the illusion that England has solved the universal riddle, conquered unemployment and discovered the secret of prosperity.

Statesmen in America sigh and wish they could do as well as the English. Wall Street magnates are never tired of saying that if Mr. Roosevelt would only turn conservative like the British Government and forget all his nonsense about social welfare, the American nation might get on its feet again (forgetting, of course, that England inaugurated most of Mr. Roosevelt's reforms 25 years ago and now takes them as a matter of course). And even politicians in Canada, which is one of the most backward nations in the world in all social reforms and one of the most conservative in politics, imagine that everything is lovely in England.

It looks so. You see in England little but the outward signs of contentment and prosperity. London is the most prosperous-looking place in the world and the countryside, of course, is a dream of Arcadia. But lately the Saturday Evening Post sent a competent reporter over there to find out if all this is really true, and the tale he tells of the depressed areas of England is pretty shocking.

What we don't realize here is that one quarter of the people of England are on the dole at $9 per week per family and live almost entirely on bread, margarine and tea with canned milk, so that the health of a quarter of the people is steadily being undermined. A quarter of the people are being made into a kind of sub-civilization, a separate untouchable caste born on the dole, raised on it, buried on it.

Last year I went out to look at a distressed area in Wales and it was pretty bad, with the grimy streets full of men who hadn't worked, many of them, for 20 years and will never work again, children fat and soft from their bread-and-tea diet, young men who had never worked in their lives. But I hadn't realized before that a quarter of the people were living on $9 a week.

Don't let us feel too virtuous by comparison. Here in British Columbia a man and wife and child get $23.50 a month in relief and there are a million on relief in Canada, where, unlike England, we have more wealth than we know what to do with. What I have always wondered is how these people live at all, and when I ask experts and men who administer relief they always give me one conclusive answer. They say: "God only knows." Certainly nobody else does.

HEALTH INSURANCE ACT— ARY REPLIES TO MR. WOLFENDEN

To the Editor:—Canadian Insurance gives the following quotations, referring to the B.C. Health Insurance Act, from the speech of Hugh H. Wolfenden, a Toronto actuary, before the sixth Canadian conference on social work at Vancouver:

"It is impossible to certify the B.C. scheme as being 'actuarially sound'; it is likewise impossible to certify it as being 'actuarially unsound.' An actuarial basis simply does not exist."

"The B.C. plan consequently means nothing more than that employees and employers are to be required to pay over to the commission widely-varying sums which the commission can disburse in almost any manner whatsoever—that it may choose."

Canadian Insurance also makes the following statement:

"Mr. Wolfenden asserted there was no good reason for legislative apathy to the actuarial aspect of government schemes."

As the actuary who was consulted by the B.C. Government, and who certified to the actuarial soundness of its health insurance scheme at the time it was under consideration, I can state that the government showed no "legislative apathy" to the actuarial basis of the scheme, unless we assume that "apathy" is to be defined as the nonemployment of a consulting actuary who appears to act as consulting actuary to the Social Insurance Committee of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association. I might add that I am considered under all the insurance laws of the United States and Canada as a "qualified actuary."

Mr. Wolfenden states that an actuarial basis does not exist. An actuarial basis includes the statistical data upon which the benefits and contributions are calculated. If these data do not exist, how can any scheme be formulated?

Of what value is the warning that health insurance programs must be planned on a sound financial basis if that basis is unknown?

Has Mr. Wolfenden the temerity to assume that from the inception of a health insurance scheme he can predict the exact future cost, and that cost can be converted into a definite and unchangeable periodical contribution? If not, what does he mean by "actuarially sound"?

It was an actuarial necessity that the commission should have power to change rates of contribution. This power is not new in insurance. Fraternal societies have always possessed it and consider it a source of actuarial strength, additional to their adequate reserves. There have no doubt been times, and may yet be times, when life companies wished they possessed it. An actuary is not a prophet.

Is Mr. Wolfenden's statement that contributors "are to be required to pay over to the commission widely-varying sums, which the commission can disburse in almost any manner whatsoever it may choose" his interpretation of this power? If so, it is a fair criticism to call it a gross exaggeration.

Are the powers vested in the commission more "extraordinary" than the powers of similar commissions, e.g., the Workmen's Compensation Board or Commission? A commission is absolutely useless if it has not the power to manage the business with which it is entrusted. It is much easier to remedy mismanagement of a government commission by changing the management than it is to make a like change in a securely-controlled life insurance company or fraternal society.

MACHINE AGE

To the Editor:—With the best machinery of the present day, one man can produce cotton cloth for 350 people; one man can produce woollens for 600 people; one man can produce boots and shoes for 3,000 people.

Out of 500 men formerly employed at the log-sawing business, 499 have lost their jobs through the introduction of modern machinery. One nailing machine takes the place of 2,000 men. In the manufacture of paper, 95 per cent of hand labor has been replaced. One man and two boys can do the work which it required 1,000 spinners to do but a few years ago. One man can now make as much potteryware in the same time as 2,000 could do before machinery was applied.

And so is the machine age all down the line. A mentally blind man can see that as soon as enough machinery has been constructed to supply the demands, thereafter there must be a race, a competition between man and machinery, because there will not be enough work for all, even if no further additions were made of either men or machine. Here is presented the problem of the age that is awaiting solution.

The new dealer who shall lead the people to the light in this matter will be the greatest hero and the greatest benefactor of his race the world has ever known.

Solutions innumerable have been proposed, but so far none seems applicable without doing somebody an injustice, real or apparent.

"THESE OUTSIDERS"

To the Editor:—Having perused the letter headed "Why Should We Pay These Outsiders?", June 28, would it be permissible to inquire from its writer if he can, and will, answer following questions?

1. Who is "paying" these "outsiders"?

2. How does he know these men will not work, if work is offered?

3. How do men "pioneer" without a "grubstake" with "empty hands, little clothing, and no tools, in a country of heavy brush, rocks, gravel, mountains, bad roads, and practically no "free" land to be had for settlement?" In old days "pioneers" usually were well equipped, if not also in possession of "cash in hand" for necessities.

4. Has Mr. Henton, and others like-minded, ever been penniless, hungry, dirty, cold, miserable and unwanted, in a so-called "land of plenty"?

5. If so, what did he do about it; how did he obtain "work and wages"?

6. Has he as a kindhearted Liberal—Christian gentleman ever read the old words: "Thas-much as ye did it unto the least of these . . . ye did it unto Me"?

It is very easy to sit in judgment from an armchair in a comfortable home, well fed, surrounded by loved ones; probably with a comfortable "balance in the bank" and advocate "casting out" from our midst our fellow human beings less fortunate than ourselves.

VANCOUVER'S HERO

From B.C. Financial News

Additional information has come to light on Steve Brodie, "hero" (according to some of the Vancouver daily newspapers) of the post office riot, who is endeavoring to secure the right to sue the Dominion Government over the incident.

Steve Brodie was recognized in the Bridge River district from his pictures in the newspapers as Steve Martin, an agitator who was in the valley for a short time and lost a job in a sawmill there at the request of the rest of the workers at the mill because of his constant efforts to tie up the plant with a strike.

Steve Martin applied at one large Bridge River mine for work. He carried splendid recommendations. In fact, the recommendations were so good they aroused suspicions and a little investigation showed that the men who considered Mr. Martin would be an invaluable addition to the mine's payroll were all Communists. The trickery didn't work and Steve Martin was of little use to the Communists in Bridge River.

He joined in the Regina riots on the attempted trek to Ottawa following the Ballantyne Pier riots in Vancouver. He is a veteran of the Communist technique of street-fighting and is recognized by the Communist Party as an adept at quiet inciting of men to make serious trouble. Although leader of the post office group, he did not sleep upon the post office floor, having a comfortable room and a bed to rest upon at night after his day's work of sitting about at the post office and calling provocative names at the Mounties on duty inside the post office and the city officers patrolling outside the building.

Sewage Report "Buck Passing"

Council Dissatisfied With Pepler Statement; Want
Action in Saanich

Victoria will determine the costs of setting its own house in order before again pressing for action from the provincial government to force Saanich to improve sewer conditions on the borderline of the municipality and the city.

A report from E. Pepler, deputy attorney-general, following an investigation of conditions at certain locations over which complaints arose, was termed "buck passing" by members of the council at their meeting last night, before the mayor and aldermen voiced the desire to right reported unsatisfactory conditions in the city itself and then again ask the provincial government to take action against Saanich.

The report suggested improvements both in Saanich and in the mill area of Victoria's inner harbor.

"He does condemn the beach," Alderman James Adam noted following reading of a section of the report advising the placing of signs warning bathers of the risk of swimming at the "free."

"Why don't they take action to have the condition in the urban centres of Saanich improved?" Mayor Andrew McGavin asked. The report had stated the time was not far distant when Saanich would have to establish a proper sewer system in districts closely adjoining Victoria. The mayor believed the city should continue its efforts to have the government force improvement of existing conditions in Saanich on the grounds they were a health menace.

Alderman Ed Williams introduced a motion to receive and file the report, say the city was ready to put sewers in the mill district in order and suggest Saanich be forced to take the same action in areas over which complaint over exposed sewage had arisen.

WANTS COST FIGURES
Alderman Archie Willis thought the city should first learn the costs of such action.

Dr. Richard Felton, city medical health officer, outlined the steps that would be necessary to determine costs, stating a lot of detail work and study of blueprints would be required.

Alderman Williams said he realized his motion implied a lot of work, but stated if the city wished to force Saanich to undertake expensive improvements, Victoria would have to put its own house in order.

An amendment to the original motion was brought in referring the whole question to the public works committee for a report at the next council meeting. The amendment finally carried.

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar acknowledged the truth of statements in the Pepler report regarding sewage in the ditch by the Lemon-Gonnason mill, and that the city was operating a dual system.

Alderman John A. Worthington considered that matter beyond the point. The ditch by the mill had been there for 40 years and had been used to drive a mill wheel. As far as privies in the mills were concerned, his committee was bringing in a report on them at the next meeting, he said.

Alderman Peden stated the pollution had not been noticed until the Saanich section of the Gorge had been built up during recent years.

City Council Briefs

Suggestions from the Tourist Trade Group of the Chamber of Commerce, asking the City Council to set up litter and garbage cans at downtown street corners and to paint shabby lamp standards were referred by the civic body to its public works committee last night. Alderman James Adam noted litter cans had previously been installed but had been abused and ignored for their proper use.

After some discussion the council instructed the fire warden to study and report upon a request from motion picture machine operators asking the city to oppose a move by theatre owners to secure legislative changes empowering the owners to dispense with one fully-qualified operator and to use in his stead an apprentice. At present two operators are required. The letter from the operators stated serious fire menace would arise if only one fully-qualified man and an apprentice were engaged.

Alderman Adam contended the matter was one for the provincial authorities, not for the city. Aldermen S. H. Okell differed. If the lives of citizens were endangered through possibility of fire, it was a matter for the council, he said. The question was referred to the warden, with Alderman Archie Willis, chairman, asking if the council had any suggestion to make on the question from a point of interference in matters between capital and labor. No answer was given.

An offer from D. W. Burnett to clean the face of the granite wall on the Causeway was declined. Alderman Ed Williams stating the city had no money for that work.

A request from the school board for the reservation of six reverted lots on the southwest corner of Michigan and Douglas Streets for extension of the South Park School playground was referred to the lands committee for a report.

Orders for the demolition of two old dwellings, one on North Park Street and the other on Cook Street, were approved, as was the transfers of a property on the west side of Birch Street between Begbie and Fort, plus $50, for city-owned property on the south side of McClure between Vancouver and Cook by a resident wishing to construct a $4,000 duplex.

The council endorsed a recommendation to have preliminary repairs made on the roof of the Market Building at a cost, roughly estimated by the lands officer, of about $200.

The "no-park" strip in front of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau offices on Government Street will be extended 34 feet to the View Street corner on the east side for the three summer months to afford tourists an opportunity to gain easy access to the bureau offices. The action was taken by resolution to avoid a change in the streets traffic by-law.

The purchasing agent was instructed to call for tenders for the printing of the city's voters' list for 1939. Each bid must be accompanied by the price per name on the list.

Ismay, Boiston and Holden were appointed auditors for the 1938 school accounts.

On the recommendation of the parks committee, the council decided to remove the bleachers from the Inner Harbor embankment in front of the Parliament Buildings, to store the lumber and seed the area in grass. The same committee was supported in motions calling for the construction of two backstops at Central Park at a cost of $208 and for the cutting of a tree on Humboldt Street.

St. Mary's Fete Drew Over 500 Yesterday

Proud little "mothers" pushed gaily-decorated buggies and prams in the parade of decorated dolls' carriages, which was a novel feature of the garden fete held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gibson, York Place, yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of St. Mary's Church.

PRETTY PICTURE

The little girls made a delightful picture as they paraded around the lawn before the judges, Lady (Richard) Lake and Mrs. Jutson Fisher, who found their task no sinecure. The prizes were awarded to Beverley Luck, first; Diana Parker, second, and Ann Norman, third. Each of the children taking part in the contest was given a balloon.

One little would-be contestant, Joan Foster, who arrived too late for entry in the parade, pushed a doll's perambulator beautifully decorated, the body of the car being masked with ivy leaves and the hood covered closely with fresh red roses, while the cotter was also fashioned of roses.

The Bishop of Columbia and Mrs. H. E. Sexton were guests of honor, and between 500 and 600 visitors patronized the party, being welcomed by Mrs. C. T. Teasdale, the Guild president, and Archdeacon and Mrs. A. E. de L. Nunn. About 100 played bridge and mah jong in the house.

Ideal weather enhanced the perfect setting, the guests wandering under the fine old trees, and admiring the many beautiful flower beds, both in Mrs. Gibson's gardens and in the adjoining grounds at the home of Mrs. C. F. Armstrong and Mrs. M. F. Driscoll, who kindly opened them for the occasion.

The terrace overlooking a beautiful vista of tree-studded forest.

"They take away BABY'S TEETHING FEVER"

SO writes Mrs. B., of North Sydney. Then a Toronto mother says, "I used Baby's Own Tablets and the babies were always so good. No cramps, pain or trouble when teething. In fact, I hardly knew they were cutting their teeth as they never were any trouble at night."

And so the evidence pours in from thankful mothers everywhere, who praise Baby's Own Tablets also for the relief of simple fever, diarrhoea, upset stomach, irritability, simple croup, colds and other ailments. Speedy and effective in their action. Safe and harmless in their action. Sweet-tasting and easy to take. Contain no opiates or stupefying drugs whatever. Can be given with safety to the most delicate baby. Analyst's report with every box.

Try Baby's Own Tablets. Your money will be refunded if you are not satisfied with the result. 25 cents.

Popular Pair Married Today

Miss Kathleen Gillis
Bride Today of
Mr. Wm. G. Deaville

First United Church was beautifully decorated with standard baskets of Madonna lilies, and an archway of pink roses and ivy for the marriage today at 230 of Kathleen Jeanette, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gillis of 1158 King's Road, and Mr. William George Deaville, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Deaville of 1325 Esquimalt Road. Rev. John E. Bell officiated in the presence of a large congregation. Sweet peas tied with tulle marked the guest pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white angelskin lace over taffeta, fashioned in redingote style with short puff sleeves and rounded neckline, featuring small lace bows in the front of the bodice. Her shoulder-length veil of soft silk net was arranged beneath a coronet of orange blossoms and net. She carried a shower bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and white sweet peas.

Her sister, Miss Ethel Gillis, was bridesmaid, gowning in a canary yellow sheer jacket frock, with full skirt and shirred bodice. A narrow velvet ribbon in raspberry shade outlined the shirring on the bodice and encircled the waistline, ending in long streamers. She wore a hair bandeau of the material, adorned with French flowers, and carried a colonial bouquet of mauve sweet peas. Mr. James Alfred Wheeley, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Herbert and Jack Gillis, brothers of the bride. Mrs. J. A. Wheeley was responsible for the artistic floral decorations.

Mr. Edward Parsons, uncle of the bridegroom, rendered the wedding music, and while the register was being signed, Miss Phyllis Deaville, a cousin of the bridegroom, sang "Because."

BIG RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a largely-attended reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. In the drawing room a sunburst of green and white streamers was flanked with tall standard baskets filled with summer flowers and formed a background for the wedding party during the reception.

Mrs. Gillis welcomed the guests, wearing a gown of royal blue and grey patterned triple sheer with hat to match, assisted by Mrs. Deaville, a wine-colored crepe gown with deep vee of sequined lace in the bodice and a blue hat. They each wore corsage bouquets of sweet peas.

The table was covered with a hand-embroidered linen cloth, and centred with a white bowl filled with white sweet peas, and white holders with lighted white tapers. A three-tier wedding cake in white and a bridegroom's cake in pink were placed on a side table.

The bride and bridegroom left later for Seattle en route to California by motor and on their return will make their home in Victoria.

HANDSOME GIFTS

Among the many handsome wedding gifts received by the young couple was a case of flat silver in the Lovelace pattern from the bride's associates in the Income Tax and Surveyor of Taxes offices in the Parliament Buildings, a glass and silver hors d'oeuvre tray from the teachers and officers of the Junior United Church, and a combined smoker's and magazine stand from the National Motors Company, Yates Street, where the bridegroom is employed.

For traveling the bride donned a three-piece grey tailored suit, with rose accessories and a grey squirrel choker and a corsage bouquet of yellow rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Parsons of Salt Spring Island, aunt and uncle of the bridegroom, were the only out-of-town guests at the wedding.

Nurses Hostesses At Hospital Fete

Student nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital welcomed many interested friends to their successful garden party and tea held in the lovely grounds of the hospital yesterday afternoon.

The affair was most successfully arranged under the general convenship of Miss Margaret Beeber, assisted by student nurses. Dainty vases of flowers centred the tea tables, set amid the rose arbor, and added attractions were a decorated candy stall and several contests. Flags gaily decorated the grounds.

The proceeds will be devoted to the training school funds.

Cole-Pettapiece Nuptials in Vancouver Yesterday

VANCOUVER - In the gardens at "Roxley," the home of the bride's parents, 1056 Matthews Ave., against a background of lacy willow trees and flowers, the marriage took place yesterday at 3:30 o'clock of Miss Edna Lowers Pettapiece and Mr. Robert Owen Cole of Victoria. Tall standards were filled with madonna lilies, and ferns interspersed with stately palms, to form the setting.

The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Salem Pettapiece, and the bridegroom the son of Mr. Richard E. Cole of Sidney, V.I., and the late Mrs. Cole. Rev. J. S. Muldrew read the marriage service.

BRIDE IN WHITE NET

White silk net over taffeta fashioned the bride's filmy gown, which was applied in an all-over design in true lovers' knots in taffeta, with a square neckline and puffed sleeves, while the bouffant skirt featured double fullness. Her white imported French lace straw hat was graced with gardenias in the front, the flowers partly resting on the hair. She carried a colonial bouquet of Ophelia roses, lily of the valley and swansonia.

Miss Marguerite Pettapiece was her sister's attendant, attired in turquoise blue silk lace threaded to form a webbed design. A bolero topped the bodice which fastened with a Peter Pan collar and was marked by brilliant buttons. Her hat was a small French lace model, high in the front and accessories matched the gown. In her colonial bouquet were pastel sweet peas.

The best man was Mr. Basil Alexander, and Miss Madge Matthews played the wedding music. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Pettapiece had chosen a gown of London tan silk marquisette in shirtmaker style with emerald green button fastenings. A matching corded silk ribbon girdle marked the waistline and the long full sleeves were tightly cuffed. Her large French Baku hat was enhanced with copper lined French silk roses in shaded tones posed on the front brim. Accessories matched and she wore a corsage of "Talisman" roses.

RECEPTION HELD

A crystal bowl filled with butterfly roses centred the table for the reception, the roses mingling their fragrance with pink-and-white shadragon and sweet peas which formed the sides of the low wide arrangement. Mrs. B. F. Casselman of New Westminster and Mrs. Frank McEown presided, while Mrs. James E. Downs cut the loaves.

Palms and garden flowers were used in profusion throughout the rooms while the veranda was decorated with palms and ferns, with Canterbury bells and smilax draped from the chandeliers. The bride's table, where the three-tier cake was placed, was graced with pink and white sweet peas and butterfly roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole later left to motor south, the bride traveling in a costume of nubige boucle topped with a hand-loomed Cumberland tweed cape. Her leghorn hat with its up-turned brim, featured two French pins caught through the mushroom crown. Accessories were brown and orchids fashioned her corsage. Upon returning the bride and groom will reside in Victoria.

LANCASTER-WEEKS

At the Central Baptist Church this afternoon at 2:30, Rev. J. B. Rowell united in marriage Evelyn Nora, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Weeks of 71 Regina Avenue, and Mr. Leonard Frank Lancaster, only son of Mr. F. Lancaster, Burnside Road, and the late Mrs. Lancaster.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a suit of white sharkskin, with a smart white hat and veil and a corsage of bridal rosebuds. She was attended by her two sisters, Miss Beryl Weeks in a suit of turquoise blue sharkskin, and Miss Catherine Weeks in a suit of salmon-pink sharkskin, both wearing white hats and accessories and corsage bouquets of sweet peas.

Mr. William Chard of Victoria, a cousin of the bride, was groomsmen, and Messrs. Douglas Miller and Arthur Matcham ushers. For the ceremony the church had been decorated with summer flowers in standard baskets.

Mr. William Sloan presided at the organ and during the signing of the register accompanied Miss Phyllis Holmes, who sang "At Dawning."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Weeks, wearing a dress of navy blue sheer with hat to match and a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and carnations, and by Miss E. Swain, aunt of the bridegroom, in yellow floral sheer with black hat and a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and carnations.

The bridal pair left for Seattle and Tacoma, and will later make their home on Hamley Street. For traveling the bride donned a salmon-pink jigger coat.

Among the many wedding gifts received by the young couple were a cheque, an electric silex coffeemaker, a waffle iron and a reversible blanket, all from fellow employees in David Spencer Ltd., where both the bride and bridegroom have been employed; a standard lamp from the Erskine Church Sunday school, where the bride is a teacher, and a carving set from the Young People's Society of the Central Baptist Church.

LARSON-PHILLIPS

The marriage of Miss Mabel C. Phillips, youngest daughter of Mrs. J. H. Mann, Michigan Street, and the late M. T. W. Phillips and Mr. Fred V. Larson, only son of A. Larson and the late Mr. V. Larson, Portland, Oregon, took place quietly Saturday morning in Port Angeles, Rev. Bailey of the Port Angeles Episcopal Church, officiating.

The bride wore a powder blue sheer frock, and a corsage bouquet of red roses, and was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. J. Tyrell, Victoria.

Miss Beatrice Yates, Victoria, the bridesmaid, wore a blue and white sheer frock and a corsage bouquet of violets and swansonia. Mr. Len Cozard of Portland acted as best man.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Larson left for Victoria, where a reception was held Saturday night by the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. Tyrell, at their home, 1118 Yates Street. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Tyrell in receiving the guests was the bride's mother, Mrs. J. H. Mann. The supper table was arranged with rosebuds and flanked by pink tapers. The three-tier wedding cake held the place of honor.

After a short visit in Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. Larson will leave to make their home in Bridal Veil, Oregon.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sink and the world looks punk.

A three bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a catalyst but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Miss Fairley Will Head Nurses

Vancouver Woman Started for Dominion President

HALIFAX (CP) — Beginning of a new era in nursing through education in schools apart from hospitals was seen today as a possibility by Miss Ruby M. Simpson, O.B.E., of Regina, in her presidential address to the Canadian Nurses' Convention. Miss Simpson suggested further investigation of this plan, studied experimentally in Canada for two years.

The president also suggested further research in nursing and a place for nurses in the National Research Council under a committee recently appointed for medical investigation.

Advances in nursing education in Canada were enumerated, and Miss Simpson also urged registration of nurses for emergency purposes.

Dr. M. M. Goady, director of extension courses at St. Francis Xavier University, N.S., suggested formation of voluntary co-operative associations for medical care.

Reports of the nominating committee indicated Miss Grace M. Fairley, superintendent of Vancouver General Hospital, would be elected the next president. Her name stands unopposed. Voting will be held Thursday.

H. O. Simpson and W. H. Warren New Officers of Horticultural Society

H. O. Simpson was last night elected president of the Victoria Horticultural Society to finish 1938 in place of P. R. Leighton who tendered his resignation on leaving to reside at Duncan.

W. H. Warren, Victoria City parks superintendent, was elected vice-president upon the resignation of Alex Main, who has gone to Dawson City.

Both elections were unanimous and took place at the society's July meeting at the City Hall. F. L. Boulter presided until the new president was elected and took the chair.

The society stood in silent tribute to the memory of Horace Whiteoak, former president and one of the most popular and valued members, who died in June. It was decided to open a voluntary subscription list to purchase a Horace Whiteoak Trophy for competition at various flower shows.

LEIGHTON HONORED

The meeting decided to bestow on the retiring president an honorary life membership. This will be given Mr. Leighton on Saturday, when members of the society are in Cobble Hill on their visit to the Palmer farm.

Professor E. M. Straight, director of the Dominion Government's Experimental Station at Saanichton, was the guest speaker. He gave a number of excellent tips on the use of the nitrogen or mulch paper and told how successful had been its use on the farms of Vancouver Island.

Letters were received from the Municipalities of Oak Bay and Saanichton that nothing could be done at present on the society's suggestion that cheaper water rates be given during the summer months.

A letter of thanks will be sent the City Council for a donation of $75.

COMPETITIONS

H. O. Simpson won the July flower competition for roses, with Fred Taylor second and Mrs. Frances M. Minnie winning second place in the novice class. In the section for garden peas first place was taken by R. G. Tuckwell, with Robert Battison second. Alex Mitchell won the azalea.

Following the meeting the members and their friends inspected groups of roses from members' gardens arranged by Alex Mitchell and Fred Taylor and a display of delphiniums, iris, sweet peas and lupines from the Beacon Hill nurseries, arranged by George Atwood.

JERSEY CITY'S MAYOR SCORED

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—In an attack on Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, N.J., Rt. Rev. John A. Ryan of the Catholic University, Washington, yesterday warned that "vigilance is necessary to prevent the insidious approach of every form of dictatorship."

Speaking at the annual convention of the Grand Lodge, District No. 6, B'nai B'rith, included delegates from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, Dr. Ryan declared many Catholics of Jersey City "have been misled by vicious propaganda into thinking the issue in that city is between Communism and Americanism, between Catholicism and atheism."

"Many Jersey City Catholics do not realize," he continued, "that the real conflict is between Americanism and civil rights on the one hand, and on the other hand the subservience of city officials to selfish employers who seek to prevent effective organization of labor."

Street Car Ride Like Boat Trip

"I had a ride on one of your street cars and it was rougher than the trip across from Port Angeles," said Harry Buckler, publisher of the San Mateo Times, yesterday. Aside from that Mr. Buckler said that he had noted many improvements in the city since his last visit, nine years ago. He said that the traffic and driving conditions were much improved and that the installation of stop lights was an asset. He liked the friendly manner in which visitors were greeted on their arrival here and he said that the courtesy on the road was very noticeable. The streets were cleaner too.

Mr. Buckler and his wife had planned on holidaying in Yosemite Valley, California, this summer but had been swayed by reading the advertisements of this "charming little bit of old England," and had decided on Victoria instead.

They plan on staying for four or five days before returning home. The blankets, linen goods and glass work, here, have caught Mrs. Buckler's eye and she has already spent a good deal of time and money shopping.

Mr. Buckler said that he had found the majority of the people of San Mateo had heard of Victoria and had an ambition to visit it some day.

"The Provincial and Victoria publicity bureaus are doing a fine job," he said.

Japan, Manchukuo And Italy in Pact

TOKIO (AP)—Japan, Italy and Manchukuo Tuesday signed a trade treaty entitled "An accord among the governments of Italy, Japan and Manchukuo for regulating trade and payments thereto between Italy on one side and Japan and Manchukuo on the other."

Observers considered it significant that Japan and Manchukuo, created by Japan out of Manchurian provinces wrested from China in 1931-33, were linked as one party to the treaty. Hitherto Japan has insisted Manchukuo was independent.

FIRST YOUTH HOSTEL OPENS

Camp at Mount Douglas Park First in Planned Island Chain

The first youth hostel in British Columbia opened quietly in Mount Douglas Park at the end of last week. Plans are at present being made for the formation of a British Columbia Youth Hostel Association later this year and the eventual opening of a circuit of hostels all over Vancouver Island.

The hostel makes use of the forestry camp buildings in the park. It was organized by a committee made up of Mrs. Nellie McClung, Mrs. M. Hammock, Victoria; E. M. Straight, Dominion Experimental Farm, Saanich; S. Roberts, H. McIntyre and J. J. White, Sidney; Alan Chambers, Saanich, and Ian Elsenhardt, Vancouver.

The committee had the co-operation of the provincial departments of land and labor, of Mayor Andrew McGavin of Victoria and of the Victoria-Saanich parks and beaches committee.

The camp has accommodation for 60 young men and women. It lies in with a northwestern United States loop with hostels in the San Juan Islands and on the Olympic Peninsula.

If the Mount Douglas Hostel is a success the committee hopes to put other forestry camps on the island, including those at Little Thetis Lake, Nanaimo River, Cowichan Lake, Englishman's River, Elk Falls and Little Qualicum Falls, to a similar use next summer.

There are already three hostels in the Canadian Rockies, on the Alberta side.

ARE INTERNATIONAL

The youth hostels are an international movement, started in Germany after the Great War. Their purpose is to provide an outlet for the spirit of adventure in young men and women and at the same time to foster international understanding.

The rules for the hostels are the same all over the world. Their use is limited to young people traveling on foot, pedal cycle or horseback. The visitors cannot arrive before 5 in the evening or linger after 8 next morning, and are responsible for leaving their beds or bunks tidy. They have to carry youth hostel association cards which are held during their stay by the wardens of the hostel as pledges of their good behavior.

The charge for the night's accommodation is the same all over the world, 25 cents in Canada and the United States, 3 shillings in England, a mark in Germany. The fee goes to the wardens, who are usually a married couple living at or near the hostel. The hostels are usually 15 miles apart, an easy day's traveling distance.

Arrangements have been made for members of the Victoria committee to recommend boys and girls on the island for membership in the Washington State Youth Hostel Association pending the formation of a local association.

The committee points out that in addition to giving young Vancouver Islanders a chance for cheap travel in the United States the formation of a hostel here will be of value as far as the island's tourist trade is concerned through the stories which young Americans will take home.

It is expected between 500 and 600 young travelers from across the border will use the facilities at Mount Douglas this year.

NEW TEACHER ON CITY STAFF

Arthur MacKay Patterson, former teacher at Kimberley school in the interior of British Columbia, was appointed to the elementary teachers' staff by the City School Board yesterday. Mr. Patterson's name was selected from a large list of applications. He was not given an appointment with any particular school, as this will await the general assigning of schools later in the summer.

Other business of the board's meeting included the approving of purchase of home economics supplies costing $402 and 125 steel lockers for the Central Junior High School at a cost of $630 each.

Purchase of a dining-room suite and frigidaire for the new home economics centre was tabled pending receipt of tenders for this equipment, which will be bought out of capital expenditure.

An ever increasing supply of the finest rubber comes from Firestone's plantations. Savings made by controlling raw materials at their source, savings by more efficient manufacturing and distribution make it possible for Firestone to give you extra values in Firestone Tires at no extra cost.

8 Extra Pounds of Rubber

HERE'S one of the many extra values you get in Firestone Tires—at no extra cost. In the patented Firestone Gum-Dipping process, every hundred pounds of cords absorbs 8 pounds of pure rubber, which penetrates every innermost fibre of the cord, insulating it against internal heat and friction—the greatest enemy of tire life. Two Are Saved From Drowning

J. Don, 24, and "Sonny" Danes, 11, Taken From Thetis Lake

Twenty-four-year-old James Don, Mount Talmie, and "Sonny" Danes, 11, 1217 Johnson Street, were saved from drowning in two rescues at Thetis Lake yesterday afternoon which occurred within a few minutes of each other.

Don was saved by James Haslam, 1242 Richardson Street, who brought him ashore after he had been held up by Gordon Ralston and his brother, Jack Don, 18.

James, Jack and Ralston were swimming out to the float when James got into difficulties and started to sink. Ralston and Jack Don returned to hold him up while Haslam swam out from shore and brought him in.

"Sonny" Danes was rescued by his uncle, Capt. E. Lillie, 1176 Yates Street, after he walked out from shore and slid beyond his depth. Capt. Lillie dived in to the lake and pulled him out without difficulty.

As a result of the two near tragedies, Dan Campbell, caretaker at Thetis Lake, said this morning he hoped authorities would take cognizance of the need for restricted bathing privileges at the lake or lifeguards to supervise the bathers.

The lake resort is growing in popularity among young people for swimming and for

Art Shown In Common Things

W. P. Weston Starts Art Appreciation Lecture Series at Summer School

Art appreciation should not be limited to the study of pictures, but should include the development of understanding of good design in everyday things—automobiles, chairs, kettles, buildings and clothes—W. P. Weston, A.R.C.A., told the Victoria summer school of education this morning in the first of a series of lectures under the title of "Basic Principles of Art Appreciation."

Beauty of design depended partly on the emotional effect and partly on a consideration of the period, place, purpose and material of the object.

In this connection he called Victoria's Christ Church Cathedral a sham, because it was a ferro-concrete building with the same type of construction as a skyscraper, but masquerading as Gothic stonework.

Chippendale chair was about the ultimate in woodwork. But a cast copy of one in steel would be as wrong as the bank buildings which hid behind Greek temple facades.

TO ENJOY AND KNOW

Mr. Weston defined art appreciation as "To enjoy and to know why." It was not telling children that they had got to like what the teacher liked, but rather to bring them to their notice and arouse their curiosity about them.

The first thing they must study was Nature, which conditioned men's appreciation of man-made things. It was from Nature that human liking for symmetry and for certain types of line came.

The emotional part of art enjoyment came from this conditioning, and in some cases from vastness, as in a great building, and from color.

The Greek temple would at ways remain beautiful, because it had been right for its purpose, suited to the materials then available, and making a dramatic contrast between bright Greek sunshine on marble and the deep shadows between its pillars. To put it in a dingy city where the light made no contrast and where the pillars obscured the offices hiding behind them was not at all the same thing.

Mr. Weston believed that modern machinery was producing things that would last, because they were functional. Some modern automobiles were no longer adapted horse buggies. He showed pictures of kitchen utensils, bathroom taps and ships which were beautiful because they were perfectly and simply designed for their purpose.

Sightseeing Tour Regulations Set

The City Council has passed an amendment to the Streets Traffic and Regulation by-law governing sightseeing operators in the city. The new regulations set a minimum of $1-a person for city sightseeing tours and allow a maximum commission of 15 per cent to be paid to authorized agents. This amendment brings the city regulations in line with those of the provincial government regulating traffic, which have been in effect for some time.

Under the auspices of the public services, sponsors of Miss Jean Bishop in the Miss Victoria contest, a vaudeville concert will be held Friday evening at 8 in Victoria West School.

Refuse Plea To Restore Wages

A request from elementary school teachers to have salaries restored to pre-depression levels before the new wage schedule was applied, was turned down by the City School Board yesterday.

At a special meeting the trustees heard letters from the elementary and high school teachers replying to the announcement of the new schedule. The high school teachers will take the question to a board of arbitration.

The Victoria and District Teachers' Association, representing the elementary teachers, asked the board to restore salaries by 8 per cent to bring them back to their former level before the new schedule was applied. The new scale makes alterations in maximums and minimums and grades the increments over a longer period.

The elementary schools salary payroll is about $200,000 a year, and 8 per cent restoration would have meant increasing the appropriation by $16,000.

Brief consideration was given the matter of arbitration of the high school teachers' salaries, the board deferring its appointment of a member of the arbitration board until a later meeting.

Under the School Act the teachers have the right to take the matter to arbitration by a board consisting of a member named by the teachers, one by the board and a third to be mutually agreed upon.

Paulding will prepare reports on the first three conferences to submit to the community chest and a report on the Summer School for the local Y-board of directors.

A remand until Friday was granted Stuart Henderson, counsel for Mrs. Nellie Anderson, charged in the City Police Court this morning with possession of property stolen from the home of Mrs. Catherine McDonald, Beach Drive. Counsel reserved plea and election. The charge was an aftermath of a recent case in the Oak Bay Police court when Arthur J. Manning and an 18-year-old girl pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the McDonald home and committing theft. The property involved included a gold watch, a hand grip, a clock, brooch and handbag.

MORE JOBLESS ARRIVE TODAY

Consider Plans to House Men: Pattullo Says Must Register By July 12

Two hundred single, unemployed men who spent last night in Ladysmith, are expected to arrive in Victoria late this afternoon. Another 300 men reached Nanaimo from Vancouver this morning and will likely arrive here Friday. Leaders of the jobless say this will make a total of 1,000 men in the city next weekend.

The 200 men coming from Ladysmith are "board" a freight train. They went to Ladysmith from Nanaimo by private cars yesterday.

Jobless leaders are now considering plans for caring for the men while they are here. There is a report that they will "tin-can" on the city streets tomorrow.

Premier Pattullo announced last night that he had set July 12 as the deadline for the registration of transients who wish to take advantage of the offer of transportation back to their prairie homes.

Registration of the men, asked by the government so it could get information on their domicile, proceeded as slowly as it has since the special registration office opened eight days ago, with only 60 men registered up to this morning.

Premier Pattullo emphasized that he had repeatedly asked Ottawa for larger works programs to take care of unemployment, but stressed that such works should not be for the benefit of any one single class like the single jobless.

"There are others on relief besides the single men," he said. "We have many who have struggled hard to get by, pay their taxes and maintain themselves. Should we discriminate against them by special treatment of the single unemployed and transients?"

"The defiance of the group of single unemployed now in Victoria is much to be regretted," the Premier said. "While not questioning that there may be those among them of good intention, the movement is subversive of orderly government."

"When the group to which I have referred and which are now engaged in what in essence is a form of insurrection, register as requested, the government will then be in possession of complete information in each individual case to be dealt with as may then be determined."

"I am sorry to say that the request of the government for registration has not met with any response."

"As has frequently been pointed out, the presence of so many transients in British Columbia has much aggravated the problem and has made the position of B.C. residents very difficult."

"In order that we may know definitely how many B.C. resident single unemployed are now in the group in Victoria it is necessary that the whole group should register so that each individual case may be known to our unemployment department."

"All, therefore, are requested to register without further delay."

"Transportation to their places of former residence has been offered to transients. Only one has accepted the offer in Victoria."

"The matter must be brought to a conclusion and all transients who desire to accept the offer of transportation to their former residence must register by noon of July 12."

JOSEPH HOWELL

Funeral services for Joseph Howell will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 from the S. J. Curry and Son Funeral Home. Rev. G. H. Scarlett will officiate and interment will be made in Colwood Burial Park.

John Muir's Clocks

One of these days I plan to tell the life story of John Muir. To do so, I shall need a whole series of articles. His life is one of the world's great success stories. It is not a record of how a bootblack rose to be a millionaire, or anything of that sort; for Muir did not want great fortune, and never won it. He did, however, rise from a farm boy to a man who did things to make the world richer because he had lived.

John Muir's strange clock. Note circular "table" for his books.

Today we shall just take a page, or perhaps a little chapter, from his life, something which has to do with our present series about clocks.

Eighty-five years ago, John Muir was growing up on a Wisconsin farm. He was the son of a Scottish immigrant, a rather poor man with a narrow outlook on life.

John had to work long hours in the field, and also helped care for the livestock. In the little spare time he had, he read whatever books he could obtain. One book told something about the pendulum clock, not very much, but enough to interest him in the subject.

One day he decided to make a clock of his own, a wooden clock. He had never seen the inside of a clock or a watch, but he believed he could make one which would work.

Getting up at about 1 o'clock each morning, he cut wheels from wood. He even carried pieces of wood around in his pockets when he went into the fields, and whittled when he could.

At last the clock, a hickory clock, was finished. Stones found in a field were hung on it to give it power. With "a good loud tick," the clock went to work. Since it kept fairly good time, it was a wonder to the family and the neighbor farmers.

Later young Muir made another wooden clock. It kept good time for more than 50 years; and also told the day of the week and the date of the month.

Perhaps the most important day of his life came when he left home to go to Madison, the capital city of Wisconsin. He wanted to show his wooden clocks at the state fair. People who visited the fair looked at the clocks, and thought it was a wonder that a youth could have made them.

Because of his great promise, the University of Wisconsin let Muir become a student even though he had not enough schooling. He earned his own living while at college.

Muir proved to be a faithful student, but did not give up his interest in clocks. In fact he made a new one, to be seen at this day in the Wisconsin historical museum. It not only kept time, but it also had a device to make certain books come up from a rack to a small self-opening table. As each book came up, it was a sign that the time to study it had come!

Friendly stars guide today, according to astrology. It is a day to push important matters of every sort. Women come under an adverse sway after sundown.

Under this rule all who seek favors or rewards should make determined effort to obtain what is desired. Men and women who wield power are likely to be more responsive than usual while this configuration prevails.

Clearness of vision regarding future developments in the world affairs can be attained while this rule of the stars affects human intelligence. It is a time to make plans and to reach decisions. Constructive efforts of all sorts are well guided by the planets today. The stars encourage united support of the federal government on issues of world importance.

Persons whose birthday it is have the augury of a year of success that brings added income, but there may be disturbing elements in social or domestic relations.

Movie Scrapbook

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am the possessor of an unusual amount of masculine beauty. I have the classic features, the hair, teeth, figure, etc. How can I make these earn me a living? CHARLES.

Answer: So far as I know the only markets for masculine pulchritude are the movies and the gigolo profession. In business nobody cares how the outside of a man's head looks. All that employers are interested in are his brains. Generally speaking, the pretty man is at a disadvantage with his homelier fellows when it comes to getting a job.

Nor do young girls care for the masculine beauties, but rich, fat old women frequently have a penchant for them and often marry them. I advise you to try to cash in on your brawn instead of your looks. DOROTHY DIX.

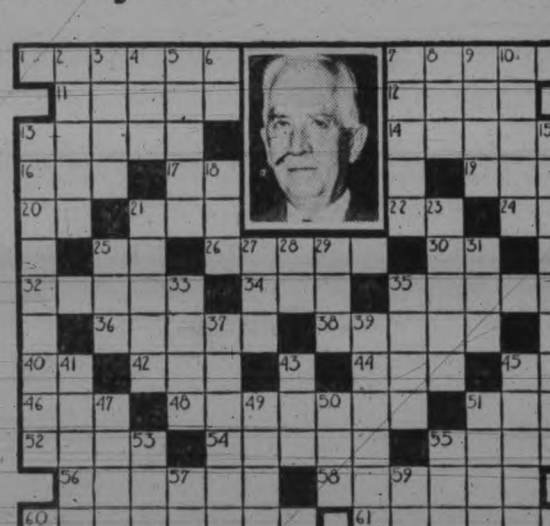

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a college girl and go steadily with a boy who has no money to spend on dates. Don't you think that my parents and brothers should be willing to pay his way and mine so we could go around to places of amusement? SUE ANN.

Answer—I certainly do not. No boy with any self-respect would permit such a thing. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am engaged to a girl who is very high-tempered and hard to get along with. If I can't get along with her while we are single, how can I do it after we are married? A.R.C.

Answer: You can't. Marriage is no cure for temper. It merely increases it and gives it scope and power. Better listen to your Guardian Angel, who is trying to save you a lot of trouble.

LADY VAN IS AGAIN WINNER

Lieut.-Governor's "R" Class Sloop Expected to Take Isherwood Trophy

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Lady Van, Lieut.-Governor Eric W. Hamber's trim white "R" class sloop which Monday won the Lipton Trophy for the second year, yesterday beat out her two Seattle opponents in the Isherwood Trophy race at the Pacific International Yachting Association's regatta.

In the morning race Lady Van sailed the 12-mile English Bay course in 2:46.49, with Sir Tom and Lady Pat, both of Seattle, second and third, respectively. In the afternoon, H. E. Wiley skippered Lady Van to victory in the second race, with Lady Pat second and Sir Tom following. The "Van's" time for the second race was 3:00.30.

By her two victories, the Lieut.-Governor's yacht practically cinched the trophy. Several Seattle boats finished well up ahead of Vancouver and Victoria entries in other races sailed over the English Bay course yesterday before a light breeze.

ANGELICA WINNER
Two Seattle boats swept the 15-mile offshore race for "AA" cruisers. Angelica of Seattle finished in 4:51.53. Circle of Seattle was second in 5:33.13.

Nahoe of Seattle was the only boat entered in the "A" cruiser class, and did not finish. The big Vancouver sloop, Spirit II, swept to victory over Tola of Seattle in the special sloop class. With Alexandra of Vancouver third and We're Here of Seattle taking fourth position.

Cat's Paw II of Seattle won the flatie class in 2:05.52, followed by another Seattle entry, Fleetwing III, in 2:07.23. Bluewings of Vancouver took third position, almost a minute behind the second Seattle craft.

In the 14-foot international dinghy class, Victoria division, Tern of Victoria was declared winner when Helen of Victoria was disqualified. Tern's time was 2:33.35.

Albireo of Seattle finished behind Auriga of Vancouver in the star class event, with Windsor of Vancouver third. The time for the winner was 3:28.56, with the Seattle craft another 50 seconds behind.

Three Vancouver entries swept the snipe class. Scandal finished ahead of Field, followed by Waterwitch and Sindbad. P.D.Q. of Victoria finished seventh.

They will take passage by the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia. During the last six months they have been traveling in Europe and also spent some weeks at their home in Berlin.

Several hundred Victorians this afternoon took advantage of the fine weather to enjoy a six-hour cruise about the picturesque islands of the lower Gulf of Georgia aboard Ss. Princess Victoria. They are due back at the Belleville Street docks this evening at 8.

Tomorrow, with fine weather promised again, a large number of people will cruise to Bellingham on the Princess Victoria, leaving here at 9 a.m. and returning to Victoria before 10 in the evening.

CAPT. PYBUS DEAD AT 89

Former Skipper of Old Empress of Japan Had Colorful Career

The ranks of British Columbia's hardy old seamen was further weakened this morning in the death at Vancouver of Commander Henry Pybus, R.N.R., 89-year old shipmaster and former skipper of the old Empress of Japan, which for years gave speedy and luxurious service between western Canada and the Orient.

Old-timers along the waterfront here well remember Capt. Pybus and recall the days when he regularly brought the trim white Empress into Victoria's ocean docks on her way to and from China and Japan.

Born at the Cape of Good Hope, Capt. Pybus went to sea when he was 10 years of age. At 16 he was a midshipman.

From then until his retirement he had a colorful career on the oceans of the world and had friends in all the ports from San Francisco to Singapore. He served in sail and steam and lived to see the namesake of his beloved old Empress capture all speed records on the Pacific, over which he sailed many thousands of miles.

ON CHINA COAST

In 1870 Capt. Pybus became second officer on the barque Evangeline, which he navigated from Demeyara to Madeira during the illness of the master and chief officer. A year later he was on the ship Naval Brigade on the China coast and in 1873 he was made an officer on Royal Mail steamers.

He was second officer on the steamer Europe when she was wrecked off the China coast in 1882 and the officers and crew beat off fleets of Chinese pirates that went out from Bias Bay, famed haunt of Chinese pirates, to loot their ship.

He remained on the China coast, dodging pirates and fighting typhoons for several years and in 1885 was in command of the steamer Kow Shing, a vessel which won fame in the China wars with Japan.

Commander Pybus first came to British Columbia waters in 1895 as chief officer of the old Empress of Japan. Five years later he was given command of the Empress of Japan, serving on her until his retirement from the sea in 1912.

He was a member of the Honorable Company of Master Mariners, being tendered an initiation into that body a year ago. Surviving are a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Henry Bell-Irving and Mrs. Duncan Bell-Irving, all of Vancouver.

Funeral services will be held in Vancouver on Friday.

New Search For Zeballos Plane

ZEBALLOS, B.C. (CP)—Pilot Sheldon Luck took off for Vancouver today to investigate en route a new clue which fliers hoped might lead to some trace of the Ginger Coote Airways seaplane missing since May 20 with four persons aboard.

Prospectors returning here from the head of Muchalat Arm and Hesulact Lake said they thought the craft might have crashed on a mountainside in that vicinity.

Pilot Luck said he would cruise over the area on his flight to Vancouver.

Aboard the missing plane were Pilot Len Waagen of Edmonton, Mrs. George Nicholson of this west coast Vancouver Island mining town, Charles R. Rumsey of Toronto and H. Brody of Steveston, B.C.

Around the Docks

For the first time in some weeks four big freighters were loading lumber at the Ogden Point piers this morning for overseas.

The British Monarch, which arrived yesterday to load 1,000,000 feet for the United Kingdom, was joined overnight by the Danish Ms. Columbia, which is loading for the Orient, and the Boxhill and the Ramon de Larrinaga, which are also loading for the United Kingdom.

King Brothers, who are handling these ships, expect the Nyhorn at Ogden Point in the morning.

Cablesheet Restorer, en route from Victoria to Fanning Island, in the South Pacific, was 1,164 miles from this port at 8 last night, according to a report picked up at the Gonzales Wireless Station.

Due at Victoria this week from the Orient is the Blue Funnel liner Ixion. She is expected to reach Race Rocks at 8 Friday evening and will proceed from here to Vancouver and Seattle.

Canadian National Steamships have announced an extra sailing to the North at 11 a.m. Friday, when Ss. Prince John will leave Vancouver for Prince Rupert, Stewart, Anyox, Wales Island, Naas River and Port Simpson. She will sail from Rupert Wednesday, July 13, via the Queen Charlotte Islands and Ocean Falls, arriving in Vancouver Monday, July 18.

BODY LOCATED

SOREL, Que. (CP)—An inquest was scheduled to be held here today into the drowning of a young woman believed to be Miss Carfrey Low, a London actress, who disappeared from the Cunard White Star liner Ascania while bound for Montreal, June 26.

The body was recovered Monday from the St. Lawrence River near here.

Police, declining to reveal contents of a note found in the English actress' cabin, said it had an air of finality and it appeared the girl had not told anyone in England of her trip to Canada.
